

MAINE HERO WEDS.

Ensign Powelson Married to Col. Millar's Daughter in Hospital

Groom Confined to His Bed with a Broken Leg, the Result of an Accident on the Cruiser St. Paul.

Ensign William Van Nest Powelson, one of the survivors of the battleship Maine and a hero of the war with Spain, was married in his room in the Episcopal hospital, Philadelphia, to Miss Margaret Olivia Millar, of Wyoming, O., daughter of Col. Millar, U. S. A.

Around the ceremony was an air of romance. Ensign Powelson could not stand as he made the promise to cherish the woman who was about to become his wife. He was kept a prisoner in bed by a broken leg. The woman who cheered him in his sickness, who cared for him and supplied him with delicacies, was his bride. She was his nurse, but her services were those of love. She had long been his sweetheart, and when he was sick she insisted on nursing him. The ceremony over, she assumed the right to keep on nursing him because she was his wife.

Ensign Powelson asked to be transferred to another ward. As soon as the war broke out he was all eagerness to fight and to strike for the Maine. He was burning with ardor to avenge the blowing up of the vessel in which he took so much pride. He was finally assigned to the auxiliary cruiser St. Paul, and though this was not an actual fighting ship he was with his old commander, Capt. Sigbee, and he expected that the St. Paul would be able to fight a little against some of the smaller Spanish war vessels.

He had long been engaged to Miss Millar. But for the breaking out of the war the couple would have been married late in the spring. Ensign Powelson was deemed, however, to be placed out of the fighting force by an inglorious accident. Stepping backward on the deck of the St. Paul one day he fell down an open hatchway and his leg was broken.

The almost cheerless hospital room had been transformed into a veritable bower of roses for the occasion, and notwithstanding the temporary infirmity of the groom, the occasion was as joyous and happy as though the marriage had been celebrated in the church in Wyoming, O., where it was originally intended that the couple should be wedded.

A LIEUTENANT HONORED.

Appointed Superintendent of the United States Military Academy—Bravery Rewarded.

For the first time in the history of the United States military academy a first lieutenant is superintendent of the institution. The officer to be thus honored is First Lieut. Albert Mills, of the First cavalry, one of the heroes of Santiago, who now has the temporary rank of captain as a member of Gen. Young's staff. The president made this selection personally and as a reward for gallant conduct at the storming of San Juan heights.

Lieut. Mills was Gen. Young's chief of staff during the Santiago campaign. He was severely wounded during the battle at San Juan, having been shot in the head and losing an eye. The president had an interview with Capt. Mills a few days ago, and hearing from his own lips the story of the work of the troops at Santiago, and remembering the glowing account which Gen. Young had previously given him of the conduct of this brave officer, offered him the superintendency of the military academy, which is considered one of the most important commands within his gift.

MEMORIAL TO LIEUT. JENKINS

Bronze Tablet Placed in Chapel in the Naval Academy at Annapolis—Its Inscription.

One of the first permanent memorials of the Spanish-American war to be erected in this country has been placed in the chapel of the naval academy at Annapolis, in memory of Lieut. William Jenkins, who perished in the explosion of the battleship Maine. The memorial, which takes the form of a mural tablet, was subscribed for by the classmates of the unfortunate officer and has been cast in bronze from a design by Mr. Charles Robinson Lamb. A faithful model in high relief of the ill-fated vessel is shown above the inscription, which reads as follows:

FRIEND WILLIAM JENKINS.
Lieutenant U. S. N.
Class of 1894, U. S. N. A.
Who Perished in the Explosion of the U. S. S. Maine on the Night of February 15, 1898, in the Harbor of Havana, Cuba.
He Spoke Ill of No Man.
Erected by His Classmates.

Makes an Interesting Souvenir.
The big punch bowl which forms a part of the silver service presented to the battleship Indiana by the people of the Hoosier state acquired added value in the eyes of the officers and crew during the battle of July 3. A piece of exploding shell from one of Cervera's ships penetrated the cabin and firmly imbedded itself in the bowl, thus making that vessel one of the most interesting mementoes of the war.

Windsor's Gold-Leaf Parquet.
The pantries at Windsor castle contain gold and silver plate valued at $7,500,000.

A Well-to-Do People.
One-sixth of the inhabitants of France have bank accounts.

GRASS EXPERIMENTS.

Recommendations for Benefiting Pacific Coast Country.

Prof. Lamson-Scribner Has Just Finished a Tour of Investigation for Holding in Check the Shifting Sands.

Prof. Lamson-Scribner, the agronomist of the agricultural department, has completed a six weeks' tour of investigation of the Pacific coast and returned to Washington. The investigation looked to the extension of grass experimental work to the other side of the Rocky mountains, which has heretofore been the western limit in this service, and also the implanting of sand-binding plants where the sand dunes sweep over the land and, partially engulfing telegraph poles and fruit trees, cause great damage.

The result of the investigation is a recommendation for extending the former work and for making practical demonstrations of the feasibility of the sand-binding operations. One grass experiment station under the direct operation of the department is to be established, probably near Wallawalla, Wash. At Yankton, Wash., the Northern Pacific road maintains a station for grass experiments, which the road has offered to turn over to the government. Prof. Scribner will recommend its acceptance, and besides the station under direct government management the experimental work of volunteers in the field of grasses and forage plants will be generally encouraged.

It is the expectation that the results of the extension of the service will be a restoration at least in part of the Pacific coast ranges to their former condition. The drifting sands along the rivers and coasts were especially watched, and the people interested will be shown by practical demonstration how to prevent the sands blowing over the country. At one point there was a fence 15 feet high to keep the sands off the railroad tracks and telegraph poles, and the work is much needed in Oregon and Washington. Prof. Scribner, in his report, will recommend the planting of seaside lime grass, a wild species of sedge and beach grass, now used at some points to effect this purpose.

YOUNG BEAUTY ON THRO.

Queen Wilhelmina Is Quite the Most Interesting Ruler in Europe.

Wilhelmina, queen of Holland and beautiful, healthy, beloved, will be considered the most interesting ruler in all Europe, at least by young men of a romantic turn of mind. Wilhelmina is "little" no longer. She is a full-blown woman, tactful, wise, serene. The people of Holland love her devotedly, and it is probable that much of this popularity is due to the fact that she is a girl, and a pretty girl, too, and to the further fact that it has been known generally that she is kind, gentle and amiable in every way. Her mother trained her and brought her up to be a typical Dutch girl of the high class. She is never so happy as when wearing the national dress.

Her education was carefully looked after. At four she could speak French, and at ten she could speak well in almost all the Indo-Germanic and Latin tongues except German. Her father did not like the Germans, and the girl queen is ignorant of their language.

Wilhelmina has been taught many of the feminine arts and accomplishments, and knows as much about politics and governing as a girl of her age could reasonably expect to know. Her life has been simple, and there has been in it a great lack of boys and young men of her own station. When she marries, she says, she will marry one of her own choosing. Wilhelmina is said to be capricious and to have a strong will of her own, which even her mother cannot bend. She will certainly be an influence in the government of Holland.

STARVE FOR SIXTEEN DAYS.

Father and Son Undergo Horrible Torture from Hunger on the Stickeen River.

News has just reached Vancouver, B. C., of the terrible experience of a father and son who were 16 days without food on the Stickeen river. A man named Jorgensen, aged 50 years, and his son, 19 years old, of Seattle, started up the Stickeen on a prospecting trip, taking with them two years' provisions. Their boat was capsized and they lost all their food and their entire outfit. They started across the country toward the coast and for 16 days they tramped. They ate grass, toads, beetles, were chased by wolves and when at last they reached the coast and were picked up, they were mere skeletons.

One wore but a vest to cover his nakedness, and the other but a leg and a half of tattered trousers.

Diamond Earrings Popular Again.
Brush up the "sparklers." Earrings are to be fashionable again. The edict has gone forth in New York, and jewelers are preparing to meet the expected demand. The fashion has been revived by the news that among the gifts of the duke of Manchester to his bride-elect were a number of ear-pendants set with gems.

Our Colored Population.
The Afro-American contingent represents about 12 per cent. of the total population of this country.

Poker Forbidden in Vienna.
Poker has been forbidden in Vienna on the ground that it is a game of chance.

GOOD LOOKS & PAIN

When you see a "good-looking" woman, you nearly always see a healthy woman. Beauty is really health. It is the attractiveness of face and form that comes naturally when weakness and pain are absent. Sickness and pain drive attractiveness away. It is difficult to make women believe their tortures can be cured at home. The popular belief is that they must suffer on and on—or go to a physician, and reveal secrets that he ought not to know. Nine-tenths of women's troubles can be cured without physician's aid.
